Overwhelmed by Constant Challenge?

If you would like to navigate through change and challenge to find fulfillment, you need to hear David E White.

Before his seventh birthday David lost his father to a mentally and physically debilitating accident. His mother passed away just five years later. He, along with his three younger siblings, were then relocated from Victoria, BC to Guernsey, Saskatchewan.

Married at eighteen, he began to work as a meat cutter to support his new family. Without formal education, he rose to the rank of CEO, where he successfully led food manufacturing companies through start-up and restructuring phases for over twenty years:

Having reached the pinnacle of corporate success David decided it was time to begin a new journey; a journey whose purpose was to help others overcome the obstacles of life to reach their own goals. In 2006 he founded Synergy Solutions Group, a strategic consulting and coaching company. Leveraging his unique life experiences David comes alongside those who seek to calibrate their journey.
